

No Lager for Women and Children

It is not illegal to migrate and seek refuge to save yourself and your family's lives. Live in the countries under dictatorships and insecurity is already prison and living hell. People flee to the European and western countries not only to save their lives, but also to seek their basic rights and live as human in freedom and equality.

Non-citizens in Germany are put into the refugee camps with difficult situations and are consciously driven towards a gradual death and severe psychological diseases. Governmental policies in Germany and other European countries against non-citizens make them more vulnerable and easily driven towards a psychological death.

The inhuman situation such as no right for work, fear of deportation, living in fenced and group camps is difficult for every man, woman and child during the asylum process in Germany. But for women and children, all this is twice as hard as for men. Evidences of sexual harassments, psychological, verbal and sometimes physical violence against women and children; social pressures caused by group and camp lives and inappropriate facilities for raising children, make these groups more vulnerable.

It is time to get together and stand for our basic rights, say no to the group and camp lives for women, families and children to bring down all fences and break walls.

We will gather for a protest on March 22, 2014
at 13:00, Karlsplatz Stachus, in front of McDonald, Munich!!!

No Lager for Women and Children

It is not illegal to migrate and seek refuge to save yourself and your family's lives. Live in the countries under dictatorships and insecurity is already prison and living hell. People flee to the European and western countries not only to save their lives, but also to seek their basic rights and live as human in freedom and equality.

Non-citizens in Germany are put into the refugee camps with difficult situations and are consciously driven towards a gradual death and severe psychological diseases. Governmental policies in Germany and other European countries against non-citizens make them more vulnerable and easily driven towards a psychological death.

The inhuman situation such as no right for work, fear of deportation, living in fenced and group camps is difficult for every man, woman and child during the asylum process in Germany. But for women and children, all this is twice as hard as for men. Evidences of sexual harassments, psychological, verbal and sometimes physical violence against women and children; social pressures caused by group and camp lives and inappropriate facilities for raising children, make these groups more vulnerable.

It is time to get together and stand for our basic rights, say no to the group and camp lives for women, families and children to bring down all fences and break walls.

We will gather for a protest on March 22, 2014
at 13:00, Karlsplatz Stachus, in front of McDonald, Munich!!!